

I truly don't understand. Why are you asking for comments against this bastard proposal. It is obvious that this type of mandate is un-necessary. We have processes in place to allow for wiretaps. The processes might not be easy and that's a GOOD THING.

The NSA has the Echelon project, and now you propose this?

Any savvy criminal will make use of strong encryption and non-distributed keys.

The only people that will be affected by this (other than the lam-abiding population) are stupid criminals. The ones you catch after he knocks himself out during a armed robbery.

This is unnecessary.

This is a violation.

This is communism.

This is wrong.

In my humble opinion.
